Carmel Elects Dormody; To Heck With The County

Carmel maintained its ancient right to be "different" in Tuesday's Primary election when the local Democrats elected Horace L. Dormody their candidate for State Senator from the Twenty-fifth district. Unofficial returns from the rest of the district indicate that Fred Weybret won nomination on both Republican and Democratic tickets and can move into the State senate without benefit of election in November. In the voting for other candidates, Carmel fell in line with the rest of the county, judging by the incomplete unofficial returns available on the county vote.

Carmel Republicans nominated Frederick Houser for United States Senate with a vote of 241, giving Philip Bancroft 95, William Bonelli 24, Ronald Casad, 00, Justus F. Craemer 10, Sheridan Downey 66, Chas. G. Johnson, 18, Alonzo J. Riggs 00, John Taheny 1, Jack B. Tenny 10.

The Democrats picked Sheridan Downey, 232, giving Bancroft 33, Bonelli 6, Casad 2, Craemer 5, John S. Crowder 4, Irene M. Dockweiler 8, Houser 38, Johnson 14, Taheny 4, and Tenney 21.

For representative to congress from the fifth district, the Republicans gave Fred J. Hart 294, Outland 170. The Democrats cast 304 votes for Outland, 57 for Hart.

For State Senator from the Twenty-fifth district, Fred Weybret polled 358 Republican votes, Horace L. Dormody 103. The Democrats gave Dormody 221 and Weybret 132.

For Assemblyman from the Thirty-third District Republicans cast 149 votes for Fred Emlay, 202 for Lloyd Tieran and 67 for John A. Morrill. The Democrats gave Morrill 151, Emlay 105 and Tieran 66.

Carmel cast 581 votes for A. B. Jacobson for supervisor, fifth district, gave two write-in votes for Pon Chung and 1 for Dale Ward.

On Proposition for taxation of federal lands the Carmel vote was Yes 542, No 234.

Republicans cast 371 votes for delegates to the nominating convention pledged to Earl Warren; the Democrats, 284 for delegates pledged to Roosevelt. Total vote for the eight Carmel precincts was 898, 493 Republican, 392 Democrat, 12 Non Partisan and one Prohibitionist.

DR. GRETHER AT FORUM

Next Tuesday evening, May 23, in the Library of Sunset School at eight o'clock, Dr. Ewald T. Grether, Professor of Economics and Business Administration at the University of California, will speak on the subject, Relationship Between Government and Industry Now and in the Postwar World.

RAINFALL

Rainfall for the past week was 1.02 inches according to Professor Francis E. Lloyd. Total for the season to date is 19.64 inches, for season last year to date, 16.97.

Students Present Spring Concert At Sunset Tonight

The chorus and the orchestra of the Carmel High School will join in presenting the final event of their musical activities, the spring concert, which will be given tonight at the Sunset School Auditorium at eight o'clock. The public is invited to attend free of charge.

All of the students participating are enrolled in either the instrumental or vocal music classes at the high school. Both chorus and orchestra have approximately twenty members. In addition to the stringed instruments the orchestra contains a clarinet, a bassoon, two French horns, two trumpets, two trombones, and kettle-drums.

The vocal number will be conducted by Miss Dorothy Recht, who is in charge of the vocal music at the schools, and the orchestra is under the direction of Jaffrey Harris.

Parents Receive Purple Heart For Billy McDermaid

The Purple Heart award, made on May 3rd to Pfc. William E. McDermaid of the 35th Infantry, "for military merit and for wounds received in action resulting in his death March 1, 1944" was received last Monday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard McDermaid of Carmel.

Accompanying the award was a document embossed with the seal of the United States and signed by President Roosevelt. It reads:

"In grateful memory of Private First Class William E. McDermaid who died in the service of his country in the North African Area, March 1, 1944. He stands in the unbroken line of patriots who have dared to die that freedom might live and grow and increase its blessings. Freedom lives, and through it, he lives in the way that humbles the undertakings of most men."

Initiation of New Fireman "Dark and Mysterious Business"

New Fire Commissioner Frank Hefling, attending the Thursday night meeting of the Volunteer Fire Department as a guest, was invited to install the officers for the department for the coming year: Dick Watson, chairman; Jack Montgomery, vice-chairman; Alex Gibson, secretary; and Harry Hilbert treasurer.

Two new members, Kenneth Roberts and Reggie Lambirth, were initiated at the same meeting, "with dark and secret rites—very mysterious" according to Hefling.

There are openings for four or five more new members to fill the places of the men represented by six blue stars in the department's service flag: Albert Lockwood, Navy; James Williams, Air Corps; Stanley Clay, Army; Ervin Smith, Army; Dave Askew, Marines; and Carl Rassmussen, Sea Bees.

Joe Morsony Home On Leave Quotes Poem on Aleutians

The boys huddled in their quoset huts, somewhere in the Aleutians, listening to the bluster and howl of the "strictly Edgar Allen Poe weather," made up a "poem" about it all to help pass the time away.

Joe Morsony, radio technician, naval air corps ground crew, is home on leave for the first time since he enlisted in the navy July 26, 1941. In speaking of the long arctic winter night, he quoted the "poem" when he was in the Pine Cone office last week.

It isn't much of a "poem" he admits, but it expresses a good deal of feeling—mostly ennui, and starts out: "Somewhere in the Aleutians where the mud is like a curse, and each day is followed by another, only worse." It continues to bewail that there isn't any whiskey and the beer is none the best, and the mail is so darn late that a Christmas card in April is considered up to date. It takes into consideration the one pleasant aspect of the Islands, however, in pointing out that "in the Aleutians where the trout and salmon play, there's a million replacements for the one you caught today." But it winds up on a very sour note, indeed.

Write-inners Have Field Day Here

Pencils got as good a working out as the little rubber stamps in Tuesday's Primary Election when 493 Carmel Republicans and 392 Democrats, not to mention twelve Non Partisans and one Prohibitionist, went on a write-in spree to fill out the list of members for their county committees.

The Democrats restrained themselves a little better than the Republicans since they concentrated on Herbert Heron, 93 votes, and Robert Leidig, 110, as write-in candidates scattering only a few votes on dark horses, but those few were tossed high and wide from Pon Chung, who poled one vote in Precinct 6, to Dr. Blanchard Steeves whose name was written in on a ballot in Precinct 3. George Knapp, Niels Reimer, Leonard Abinante, Fred Workman, C. A. Watson, Carol C. Briggs, Ernie Gieme, Orlemashi, Andy Jacobson all garnered one vote. And then there were the humorists who thought it would be very funny to write in the names of dyed-in-the-wool Republicans, such as E. K. Bramblett, W. R. LaPorte, for Democratic Committeemen. Patricia Cunningham's Students' Exhibition at Carmel Art Gallery Rich in Color and Interpretation

Navy, Army, and sophisticated Cosmopolitan "E"s for Excellence to the Carmel Art Institute for the exhibition put on by its class of advanced students! Much credit goes to their fine instructor, Patricia Cunningham. The exhibit, which opened Tuesday, May 16, will run for a month at the Carmel Art Gallery.

Talented Marjorie Doolittle, Florence True, and Rama Stearns have put on canvas unerring proof of their achievements. These three artists have exhibited regularly at the Carmel Art Gallery and are active artist members of the Carmel Art Association. They are a close group who have worked together, and have worked hard on form, color, and composition, creditably and with more than good results. Their exhibition is especially interesting, taking into consideration as it does the fact that with the same subject or model each artist gives her own different and individual interpretation.

One great satisfaction to the public is that the pictures have been exceptionally well framed. The attention paid to size and grouping of the exhibit gives a happy feeling of unity; nothing is cluttered, and its clean simplicity of line and color is most pleasing both to the amateur and the professional. It has been hung well, to the mutual and individual, yet also collective, advantage of the artists.

The oils on canvas, consisting of portraits, still life, and landscapes, are hung in the George F. Beardsley Memorial Gallery, while an interestingly varied and unusual collection of oils on paper, and watercolors, also done by these same three able artists, hang in (Continued on page 13)

Bars Close Today In Honor Of One Board Candidate

After Tuesday's election a good many Carmel citizens may be under the impression that as far as elections are concerned, all is over but the shouting until General Election in November, but such is not the case.

There is an election in Carmel today. The affair is under the auspices of the Carmel Unified School District. Poling place is at Sunset School, Mrs. Martha Moller is running unopposed for election to the School Board, and if the vote runs as it did for the last School Board election, all of fifty people will turn out to cast a ballot. Nevertheless, it is a sure-enough-official election. If anyone doubts this, let him try to get a drink at any of the bars between nine o'clock in the morning and five o'clock in the afternoon today.

Though she has served for two years on the school board, this is the first time Mrs. Moller's name has appeared on a ballot, as she received her place by appointment when Captain Shelburn Robison resigned in 1942.

A former high school teacher, she is registered as "housewife," and is the mother of two high school students, George and Martha, and Halburton, in the Army overseas.

Typhoid Outbreak On Peninsula; 15 Cases in County

Though fifteen cases of typhoid fever have been reported in Monterey County between April 23 and May 6, as yet there have been none in Carmel. Dr. Kenneth C. Sheriff, Health Officer of Monterey County announced this week. Five cases were reported from Salinas, two from the East Salinas area, and eight from the Monterey Peninsula, scattered through Pacific Grove, Monterey, New Monterey, Del Monte Grove and Seaside, more incidence of typhoid in two weeks than has been reported in the county over a period of five years. The records show eleven cases since 1939: four in 1940, three in 1941 and four in '43.

The County Health Department, with the assistance of State officials are investigating water and milk supply, Dr. Sheriff says, and are making every effort to control the outbreak, which is not confined to this region, as there have been 19 cases reported in Kern County and 14 in San Benito County.

Typhoid fever is contracted by eating contaminated food or drinking contaminated water or other liquids which contain the organism.

Doctor John C. Sharp, Superintendent of the County Hospital, announces that no more cases can be taken at the hospital due to the shortage of nurses.

Almost Everybody Pays His Taxes Here In Carmel

No better index on the prosperity of the town can be had than the delinquent tax list published in this issue of the Pine Cone-Cymbal, representing the lowest percent of delinquency in seven years, less than a fourth of delinquency for 1937, when 4.675 percent of the taxes were unpaid. This year, the amount is 1.170 percent.

At only one time has this year's low figure been approached, and that was in 1940-41, the consolidated tax year, when the percent was 1.549. Since 1937 the fall has been steady: 1938, 4.501%; 1939, 3.515%; 1940-41, 1.549%; 1942, 2.598%; 1943, 2.530%, and 1944 1.170%.

Life With Father Plays Salinas On Monday, May 29

Lovers of stage comedy may look forward to a treat when "Life With Father," the inimitably funny Clarence Day play, acted by a splendid cast headed by Harry Bannister and Nydia Westman, is presented by Producer Oscar Serlin on the stage of the Salinas Union High School Auditorium, Salinas, on Monday, May 29th for the first time.

The astonishing career of this comedy is pointed to as guarantee that the above is not an extravagant statement. The original company, with Howard Lindsay and Dorothy Stickney in the leading roles, completed its fourth year at the Empire Theatre, New York, and is expected to remain there another twelve months.

Two other companies, not in any sense "Number 2 and Number 3" were specially organized to play the large cities. The famous Gish sisters, Lillian and Dorothy, were engaged for these casts. Lillian with Percy Waram, headed the Western Company, and Dorothy, with Louis Calhern, was featured in the Eastern organization. These two companies between them accounted for another 1,800 performances on nationwide tours.

Tickets on sale at Gadsby's Music Co., Salinas and Abinante Music Store, Monterey—"Abie's Irish Rose" is scheduled to play Salinas under Ware-Hazeltan management, June 15, to be followed by other New York successes. Coming for Coast tours, "Janey" and "Over 21."

The Bert Herons Give Reading For Woman's Club Meet

On Monday, May 15, occurred the last meeting of the Carmel Woman's Club Book Section, bringing to a close what has been characterized by the members as the most inspiring year the club has ever enjoyed. Under the leadership of the chairman, Mrs. D. E. Nixon, many programs provided by local talent were presented for the club's entertainment. Mrs. Nixon has been ably assisted by Mrs. E. A. Fraser as secretary; Miss Helen Baldwin, with Mrs. Helen Warren and Mrs. Ira Coldren assisting as hospitality committee; and Miss Frances Hartwell, librarian.

At the beginning of the club year a committee is chosen to buy new books which are kept by the club librarian for the use of the members without rental fee. Before the program of the last meeting of each year these books are auctioned to the members and the proceeds are used to buy new books for the following year.

Monday's program was given by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Heron and Mr. J. W. Wright, who read a one-act play, "The Workhouse Ward," by Lady Gregory. Herbert Heron's contribution to the cultural history of Carmel has been outstanding, both as a poet and through his activities in connection with the Forest Theatre which he helped to establish and where throughout the years he has appeared as author, actor, director and producer. Mrs. Heron, who was a member of the group which studied under Maurice Brown in the Theatre of the Golden Bough during the season of its opening by Edward Kuster, has given of her gifts as a costume and scene designer for many local dramatic productions. Mr. Wright, the third member of the play-reading cast, is the artist who designs and produces by hand in all their lovely details the books which bear the imprint of his Press in the Forest.

The reading of "The Workhouse Ward" was given with fine sincerity and understanding of its humor and poetic qualities, and was received by the audience with keen appreciation.

For this last meeting, Miss Flora Hartwell, who has arranged the tea table decorations each month, using flowers suggested by the seasons, chose rhododendron, which is now in full bloom. She later presented them to Mrs. Howard Marshall, whose illness had prevented her from attending the meeting.

Rachel Morton, Anne Barrows Concert May 29

Carmel music lovers are to have the opportunity of hearing a concert of distinction at the Playhouse on the evening of Monday, May 29, when Rachel Morton, whose gifts as an interpretative soprano have long been recognized internationally as of the first rank, will present a program of songs, ably assisted by the rich contralto voice of Anne Barrows, her advanced pupil, and accompanied at the piano by Jaffrey Harris.

The warmth, variety, tone quality and virtuosity of Miss Morton's singing of both concert numbers and operatic roles have been acclaimed by the leading critics of New York, Boston, Chicago, Cologne, Copenhagen, Vienna and Berlin. In a letter addressed to Otto Klemperer, director, of the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra, Walter Damrosch expressed himself as follows:

"It is with especial pleasure that I introduce to you Miss Rachel Morton. She is the possessor of a lovely soprano voice and uses it with great distinction. She has sung the Brunnhildes and other Wagner parts in operatic performances in England, and has sung the greater excerpts from the Wagner operas with me in many, many concerts. Please hear her sing. I am sure that she will delight you and that you can make use of her as an interpreter of Wagnerian music."

Service Wives To Act As Models For Spring Fashion Show

Pretty models selected from the wives and families of Carmel's service men and coached by Mrs. William A. Storts, recently from New York, where she was engaged in professional modeling, will display the latest styles in the patio of the Pine Inn between 2 and 4 on Friday, May 26, at the Fashion Show Tea to be given for the benefit of the Service Wives' Center.

Assisting as models are Mrs. John McNay Taylor, Mrs. J. D. Ramage, Miss Madeleine Horner, Miss Jean Hearn, Mrs. J. F. Gray, Miss Sue Brooks, Mrs. Ernest F. Easterbrook, with her children, Nancy and Johnny, Mrs. Arnold Addestone and her daughter Sharon, Mrs. James F. Collins and daughter Patricia, Mrs. J. Y. Adams and Mrs. Jack Streeton.

General chairman for the event is Mrs. A. V. Arnold. Mrs. Gordon Johnson is in charge of arrangements for the show with Mrs. E. B. Ely heading the committee for waitresses, Mrs. L. L. Kotzebue ticket chairman and Mrs. Henry D. Jay chairman of the tea committee.

Dorothy Ledyard

With the passing of Dorothy Ledyard, whose funeral service was read by Dr. J. E. Crowther in Monterey last Saturday, Carmel lost one of its most beloved and valuable citizens.

Miss Ledyard first became widely known on the Peninsula as partner and co-manager of Peter Pan Lodge where, for seven years, she not only fed but also entertained her guests with the abounding zest and generosity of spirit that characterized all she did. Later, she made a still wider circle of friends by means of her radio broadcasts which were a regular morning feature on KPO, KSFO and KFRC for some months during 1942-43.

A native of The Dalles, Washington, she spent her early years in San Jose. Abandoning dreams of a stage career, she became a student at Mills College. After graduating in 1914, she taught for some time and then decided to take nurse's training. She entered the Children's Hospital in San Francisco, obtaining her diploma in 1917 and was immediately offered, and accepted, the position of assistant superintendent of nurses there.

To equip herself to serve her country in World War I, she took additional training as an anesthetist and shortly after the outbreak of the war, joined the Red Cross and proceeded overseas in time to assist with the avalanche of casualties coming in to the Paris hospitals from the Battle of Verdun.

The war over, Miss Ledyard was sent into Germany by the Allied Peace Commission to ascertain the truth about the rumors of starvation among the civilian population and there assisted in making a nutritional survey. This stimulated her interest in public health problems and upon her return to the United States she attended Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio, for some special courses in public health work. Upon completion of her course, in 1920, she accepted a position as a public health nurse in Yuba and Sutter counties of California, where she started the first nursery, in a cannery, for the convenience of working mothers.

Her talents were such that she was called from this post after six months to represent the United States at an International course in advanced public health nursing, conducted under the auspices of the League of Red Cross societies at King's College in London, one of a group of students from 19 different countries.

Upon the completion of the course, Miss Ledyard was asked by the Red Cross to go to Prague, Czechoslovakia, to help organize a new Child Welfare department, a work which flourished there until the time of the Munich pact. With its organization complete, she spent a year in Geneva, Switzerland, working with the League of Red Cross societies.

Returning again to California, this widely experienced young woman joined the staff of the Pacific branch of the American Red Cross and eventually became director of Nursing Service for the seven westernmost states and Alaska, with headquarters in San Francisco.

Purely administrative work, however, failed to satisfy the warmly human character of Dorothy Ledyard; she preferred personal ministrations in some form, and above all, she longed for the beauty of this coast line and a life more close to nature. After five years she resigned the high post she had attained in her profession and came to live quietly among us—where she has been, off and on, ever since, always working hard, yet managing at the same time to give expression to the artistic and hospitable sides of her nature.

Dorothy Ledyard's life exemplified with unusual clarity her belief in the doctrine of the brotherhood of man. People of every race, nation and creed, of every degree of culture and every state of fortune were numbered among her friends. She had the gift of being able to appreciate every man, woman and child of her acquaintance for his qualities, and everyone who came in contact with her felt the tonic lift of her gallant spirit. Carmel and California are the poorer for her going.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Virginia Beeny of Oakland; an aunt, Miss Dorothy Bevan of San Francisco; a niece, Mrs. Fred Winkler of Alameda and a nephew Mr. William Beeny of San Diego.

Lowe Tells Lions Of Rehabilitation Service Tuesday

Edward L. Lowe, rehabilitation co-ordinator for this area, was guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Lions Club at Whitney's Tuesday evening.

He told of the work of the project which consists in training handicapped people in a skill or trade so that they may be self-supporting, and in placing them in jobs. The service includes furnishing artificial limbs, hearing aids, tuberculosis treatment, whatever assistance may be necessary to fit the handicapped individual physically for training or employment.

strict, state and federal sources, the project is now serving injured war veterans. It differs from the War Department's rehabilitation service in that it makes an assay of the individual's aptitudes so as to train him in the work at which he is most likely to succeed, whereas the War Department trains the individual in the work he thinks he can do. Also, the veteran receives assistance months sooner through the school district and state rehabilitation service.

Carmel Unified School District contributes one-twelfth of the cost of maintaining the service in this area, contributing last year $250.

The speaker was introduced by Carmel School Superintendent J. W. Getsinger.

It was announced at the meeting that the membership to the Lions club had been closed as the quota of 35 had been reached. There are several applicants on the waiting list.

Precinct 6, the entire line up of Republican Committeemen received one write in vote each on the Democratic slate.

The Republicans were no less humorous in writing in Democrats Herbert Heron, and Jack Mallaway once, and Robert Leidig three times. Serious write in voting centered around A. B. Jacobson who received 82 for Republican Committeeman, W. R. LaPorte 32, E. K. Bramblett 22, Daisy B. Taylor, 45 and Mrs. Lillie Trowbridge 116. Other write-ins on the Republican ticket for Committeemen were Allen Knight, Millie Colburn, Dr. Tollfree, Daisy Bostic, Fred Goss, Chas. Watson, Ed. Jelich, E. H. Tickle, Ed. Siefert, who received one vote each, and Peter Burke, who received two.

Voting for Republican Committeemen whose names appeared on the ballot was: Joseph Trowbridge (deceased) 104; Chas. E. Colburn, 301, Paul E. Zaches, 305, Jack Beaumont, 259, Guy Curtis, 310, Helen Clark Cranston, 323, and E. H. Ewig, 324. The need of electing two more members was the occasion for the write-in flurry, the outcome of which cannot be announced until results can be obtained from Pacific Grove and Monterey through the County Clerk's office.

Democrats, also in need of electing two committee members through write-in, voted as follows for the members whose names appeared on the ballot: J. S. Mallaway, 202, Charles Frost, 215, Vito B. Alioto, 189, James B. Finley, 212, John F. Martin, 211, Shedo Russo, 186, Geo. D. Vellis, 154.

Returns on the committeemen vote are for seven precincts out of eight; as Precinct No. 1 failed to list committeemen on the tally sheet posted outside the polling place. Total ballots cast in Precinct 1 was 115.

AWVS Convalescent Service Is Off To Enthusiastic Start

Home aid for the convalescent, the newest service of the American Women's Voluntary Services, seems to have struck a responsive chord in Carmel life. The shortage of nurses and other help, the crowded conditions in the hospitals of the Peninsula have made many difficult situations among residents and service wives. It has been necessary for many patients to leave the hospitals before the time they normally would, so that more pressing cases could be cared for.

Although the service has been in existence only a short time, nearly a dozen women with home nursing training have volunteered their services, and more than half a dozen emergencies have been met.

"We much prefer to start in a modest way, and build from that," said Mrs. Carmalita Benson, chairman of AWVS, this week. "Those who go out to render this home service are selected with care, and with reference to their abilities to act in each particular case. For a person to avail himself or herself of the service, application for it must be made through the hospital or the physician who has charge of the case."

"It is our hope that we may have volunteers for the service from Monterey also, so that aid may be rendered there."

"This service is really a revival of the old pioneer days, when every well woman immediately responded to the call of one of her ailing neighbors. We hope, in time, to be able to build the service so that this really may be the case, in other words, that we may have volunteers in every part of our community, so that when a call comes in, a neighbor, and in all probability, a friend, will be found near at hand to act promptly.

"We are most encouraged with our initial efforts."

Special Music For Mission to Moscow Showing at Playhouse

The many friends of Dr. Francis V. Randol who have been privileged to hear recordings played upon his "super-duper" phonograph-amplifier will be glad to learn that he lent the Playhouse this exceptionally fine equipment for the week end. Accompanying the showings of "Mission to Moscow", beginning tonight and ending Sunday, there will be a half-hour concert of choice recordings, with emphasis on Russian music. The special music will begin at six-thirty each evening and at two o'clock preliminary to tomorrow's matinee.

"Mission to Moscow," starring Walter Huston, Ann Harding and Oscar Homolka, is the dramatization of the experiences and adventures in Russia of Joseph E. Davies, former U. S. Ambassador. Virtually the entire Continental colony of Hollywood is in the cast, comprising a large and impressive list of topnotch talent. The film, based on Mr. Davies' best-seller book of dispatches, correspondence and diary entries, has received highest critical praise.

Edward Kuster, director at the Playhouse, says, "Granting that the Soviet Union is still what pre-war Winston Churchill called it in 1939, 'a riddle wrapped in a mystery inside an enigma,' and that it is by no means the model of engaging candor and starry-eyed simplicity the Hollywood producers would apparently have us believe, here is a film to capture the fascinated interest of every thinking American. Each person may draw his own political conclusions. But considered as mere entertainment alone, this film is packed with 'true adventure' material more exciting than fiction."

Next mid week picture at the playhouse, starting Tuesday, will be "The Sky's the Limit," a happy affair starring Fred Astaire and Joan Leslie, with a hilarious Disney cartoon added for good measure.

The occasion of Mrs. Loa Lloyd's return from a month's holiday spent in Mexico City, Acapulco, Oaxaca, Taxco and Cuernavaca was celebrated on Thursday evening

Can You Picture CARMEL Without Schools?

OF COURSE NOT. This city, or any community, could not exist long without schools. Education is the birthright of every American, and our public schools are part of the very foundation of democracy.

The teachers of this community are devoting their lives to the work of education. These instructors, the school administrators and the local, county and state school boards deserve much of the credit for the ability of our young men and women to face the world and carve out successful careers. Our public school system is the finest in the world. It is one of the things that we are fighting today to maintain.

Highway transportation is also one of the vital factors in American progress. It makes our nation one great community. You could as well picture this city without schools as without automobiles, trucks and buses. Many schools, of course, depend to a large extent on buses for transportation of students.

Greyhound is part of this community and its progress. We are helping to maintain its essential wartime connections with other communities throughout the nation. And we are looking ahead to peace when we can again set new high standards of highway transportation.

Commdr. Peterson Buried At Sea Off Carmel Bay

Funeral services, conducted by the Navy, in accordance with the regular "burial at sea" procedure, were held on the afternoon of Friday, May 12, for Commander Martin J. Peterson, commanding officer of the Monterey Navy Section Base, whose death occurred at his Hatton Fields home on the early morning of May 10.

At 12:45 p. m., with the cremated remains of Commander Peterson aboard, and while flags aboard ships at the Base were at half mast, a patrol vessel of the Monterey Section Base shoved off from the pier and headed out of Monterey Bay on her sad mission.

Only Naval personnel was aboard, consisting of the officers and crew of the patrol vessel, officers of the Section Base, the Naval chaplain, the firing squad and the buglers. Commander Paul Flanders and Captain H. M. Gleason, long-time friends of Commander Peterson, were also in attendance.

At 2 p. m., on the high seas off Carmel, the patrol vessel came to a stop, the flag was half masted and the Naval funeral service was conducted under the direction of the Naval chaplain. As the remains were consigned to the deep, the firing squad fired three volleys, and the service was concluded by the sounding of taps by the Navy buglers.

Off to N. Y.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Crocker of Pebble Beach left San Francisco on Wednesday for New York, where they plan to spend the next several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. McDermaid have returned from Oakland, where Mr. McDermaid has been engaged in defense work, to make their home again in Carmel. He has taken the post of custodian at Carmel high school. On June 15 Billy's sister, Mrs. Virgil D. Oates, and her six-year-old son, Gary David, will come to live here during the service of her husband, Staff Sergeant Oates, now stationed in England with a bomber squadron. For the past months Mrs. Oates has been serving on the staff of the Palo Alto Military Academy.

We bring in a new oil well every day

Standard of California is drilling oil wells at the rate of one a day... and that doesn't count "dry holes." Every 24 hours, somewhere a crew of Standard drillmen hears the rumble of oil rising through thousands of feet of sand and stone. Every 24 hours they tap a new source of oil to pump life into the nation's weapons.

We have one regret. Standard wishes this increased supply could be sufficient for both the homefront and the warfront. But military requirements alone far outstripped production gains.

We'll keep trying. We're determined to top our own record... with the hope that it will help relieve present shortages, with the conviction that it will help bring a speedier resumption of peacetime driving pleasure.

CHURCH OF THE WAYFARER

"The Christ of God" will be the sermon theme by Dr. James E. Crowther next Sunday morning at the Church of the Wayfarer. Whatever our attitude toward Jesus of Nazareth may be, we are confronted by a personality that has profoundly affected the thinking and experience of mankind for nearly twenty centuries. We invite you to a consideration of demonstrable facts, not dogmatic theories. Margaret Sherman Lea will play the following organ selections: "Cherubim Song," "Give Peace in our Time," "Prelude in C-Sharp Minor," "Bow Down Thine Ear," "Holy Radiant Light." Church School is at 9:45; Church Service at 11:00. Visitors are cordially invited to spend an hour in reverent worship.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

In all Christian Science Churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, a Lesson-Sermon will be read Sunday, May 21, on the subject "Soul and Body." The Golden Text will be: "For our conversation is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself." (Phil. 3:20, 21.)

Bible selections will include the following passages from Numbers 6: 22, 23 (to second coma), 24, 26: "And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, Speak unto Aaron and unto his sons, saying, . . . The Lord bless thee, and keep thee: . . . The Lord

SUNSET SCHOOL NOTES

The Haunted House

One Saturday morning we went to visit a girl named Inez. She lives on a ranch, and there is a great big "haunted house" on the ranch. It's yellow and old fashioned with some broken windows.

It was very dark inside, but we wanted to go in so we climbed in through the broken door. Every step we took, would creak, creak, creak!

I wanted to go upstairs, so we went up. There were old fashioned beds with the mattresses thrown back. We found some ten dollar checks but they had already been cashed. We also found big writing books.

Then we went to a certain room that Inez was telling us about. She said that she had seen a man with raggedy clothes and a night cap standing out on the balcony of this room.

After we went into the room, I happened to look over to the bed. The mattress was on the bed and the covers were up. It looked as though someone were sleeping there. I gasped and said, "Inez, look!" She said, "what happened?" I said "It looks as though someone is under that cover!"

Sure enough all of us thought somebody was there and we were not imagining it either! The covers were going up and down!

We heard a creak on the stairs and that set us off! We ran out as fast as our legs could carry us. We never went back to that house again. —Nancy Poklen, Grade 5.

The Fog

When the fog comes in
Like a blanket from the sea,
It covers every bush
And it hides every tree.

It goes out as quickly

At it has come,
And leaves the whole world
All shining in the sun.

My Fishing Trip

Tuesday night I went up the valley to visit my Grandmother and my aunt. I spent the whole lift up his countenance upon thee, and give thee peace."

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included, which reads as follows: "God without the image and likeness of Himself, would be a non-entity, or Mind unexpressed. He would be without a witness or proof of His own nature. Spiritual man is the image or idea of God, an idea which cannot be lost nor separated from its divine Principle," (p. 303).

week end there. Saturday I went fishing. We fished up by Frank Porter's home. We caught nothing there so I went on upstream and I caught seven trout. One weighed one and one-half pounds and was fourteen inches long.

—John Gibbs, Grade 6.

Our Play

We gave a play, a very funny play. About a queen and a grouchy old king,

In came a cow which made people gay.

Then came the story which we had to sing.

The king wanted butter on his bread,

The queen asked the dairy maid. She went to the shed.

The dairy maid asked the cow. She said, "Try some different spread."

The king became angry and rushed back to bed.

Very, very sorry was the cow,
For the king who was so sad.
"I'll send him some butter right now,"

The king became happy and the cow was glad.

—Barba Templin, Grade 6.

The Pack Meeting

Friday night at 7:30 the Cubs of Pack 86 met at the Sunset School Cafeteria. At the meeting the dens gave skits. One was about trucks of today and trucks of tomorrow. Then they gave out the awards. In Den 4, John Monroe and Fritz Westerhout got their Wolf badges. In Den 5, Howard Veit got his Bear badge and Dale Simmons got his Wolf badge.

After the meeting the boys had ice cream cones.

—Fritz Westerhout, Grade 5.

New Houses

There are about 25 new houses for rent in Carmel. They were made by children. But—they are for birds only.

—Dan Charlton, Grade 3.

My Bird House

I enjoyed making my bird house. I hung it in a big pine tree near my grandmothers' house.

—Gordon Ricketson, Grade 3.

The Black Stallion

This is the story of Alec Ramsey and his horse, the Black Stallion. The story started when Alec and the Black were shipwrecked together on an uninhabited island. After several weeks a ship picked them up and took them to New York. Then Alec proceeded to train the Black to run in a horse race. He believed that the horse, since he was part Arabian, would beat the two great horses in the United States, Cyclone from the east, and Sun Raider from the west.

Alec entered as his jockey and when the race started Cyclone kicked the Black and everyone thought that the Black would not run, but even when Cyclone and Sun Raider had already started the Black started. He beat Sun Raider and finally on the last lap of the race he passed Cyclone and won the championship of the fastest horse in the United States.

—Eleanor Taggart, Grade 6.

Outside Our Window

A little bird comes and sits on the wire outside our school window. He is a flycatcher. Sometimes we hear him sing. We like to hear him sing.

—Mary Louise McGarr, Grade 3.

CAN

ALL you can - at home!

From now and on through the bountiful fruit and berry season is a good time to practice the thrifty old Yankee custom of putting up food for the winter months. Can, all you can, at home. There will be ample sugar allotment for your jams and jellies and preserves. Some berries can be put up in natural juices without sugar. Or you can stretch your sugar allowance by the use of honey for sweetening.

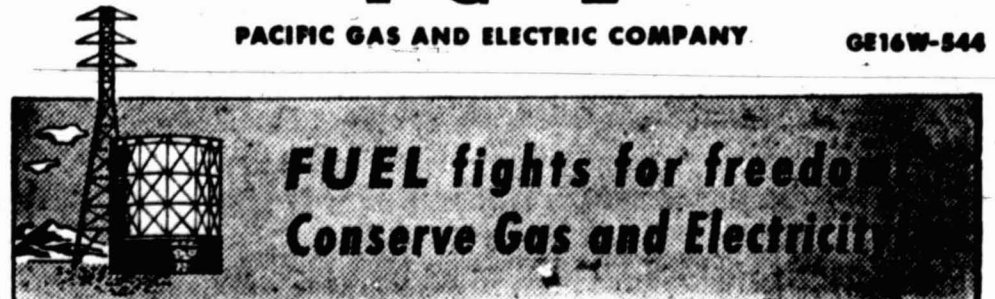

If you plan to put up vegetables, remember the only safe canning method is with a pressure cooker. Do not use the boiling water bath methods for any vegetables, except tomatoes. When you can, do it right. Buy fresh, firm fruits and berries. Cook them right, seal them tight!

Have your Pressure Cooker tested before the canning season. Ask about this wartime service at your local P.G. and E. office. No charge, no obligation.

MAGIC IN DANCE RECITAL

By JESSIE JOAN BROWN BEVER

Dance director June Delight once again waved her magic wand Saturday night and conjured up for the enthusiastic audience that filled Sunset School Auditorium another of her charming and colorful dance recitals. It takes nothing short of sheer wizardry to train and organize eighty youngsters, ranging from four to fifteen years, into such a smooth, smart, well-performed show, and the rounds of applause that greeted every number were ample proof that the audience agreed that if June Delight didn't have a bit of sorcery up her sleeve, she certainly had a genius for teaching.

The stunning and original costumes added greatly to the attractiveness of the show which was almost stolen by the Tiny Tots chorus. Every time these youngsters appeared, cheeks rosy with excitement, curls bobbing, eyes watching everyone else, they drew delighted chuckles and a wave of applause from the entire house. And they could dance, too, and did, everything from a Polka to a Hula, complete with red cellophane skirts. The popular Polka group was made up of Jeanie Parsons, Ginger Murphy, Bonnie Jean Wager, Judy Weller, Rosa Ann McGarr, Gail McHarry, Gail Busby, Sandra Ann Cooper, Patricia Doolittle, Priscilla Clark, Harriet O'Rear. The charmers in the Hula were Ginger Murphy, Sandra Ann Cooper, Beverly Trine, Patricia Doolittle, Floydian Moir, Jean Hurlbert, Nilene Pease, Sammy Jane Crumpley.

The group numbers were effectively staged with the colors of the costumes always making an eye-filling picture, from the rainbow hued dresses in the lovely Girl Number danced by Marian Perkins, Carol Graham, Billy Pat Torras, Ladisla Narvaez, Patsy Canoles, Mimi Rookledge, Connie McKibben, Rose Marie Krupocki, June Delight 2nd, to the pastel organdies in the graceful Waltz Time which included the Emperor Waltz and the Southern Roses. In the Emperor group were: Glenda Dayton, Dorinda Hastey, Jill Murry, Betty Jean De Amaral, Nancy Krupocki, Alma Llorente, Margaret Schmutz, Emma Schmutz, Peggy McInnis, Bernadette France, Jackie Wheeler and Suzanne Smith, while the Southern Roses included: Jane Ashworth, Shirlee Wight, Nancy Steffanoff, Clara Walter, Mary Louise McGarr, Camilla Doe, Barbara Horne, Dianne Horne, Anita Machado, Collette Ferguson, Ruth Pullman, Jane Bond, Kay Ongley, Barbara Pongonis, Judith O'Rear, Paula Murphy and Beatrice Totten. And splashes of vivid color were produced by the red and green dresses of the exciting Russian Dance in which Marie Stanley, Sylvia Ann O'Neill, Ilene Casvin, Margaret Schmutz, Emma Schmutz, Mary Masuen, Dorinda Hastey, Nancy Krupocki and Patsy Rosenblum brought forth "oh's" and "ah's" of pleasure from the audience.

Among the soloists Bobby Brown and Marian Perkins scored, both singly and as a dance team, in all their numbers, and especially in their comedy dance, The Fleet's In. And Bobby again proved his right to the title of "Carmel's Junior Fred Astaire" in his "Stair-Dance." Patsy Canoles and Frankie De Amaral gave them some pretty stiff competition as a dance team with their smooth "Exhibition Waltz" and beautifully timed cape dance "Gallito."

Peggy McInnis' pert Irish Jig and Mimi Rookledge's intriguing Oriental Dance won their own special rounds of applause. June Delight II's nimble feet vied for honors with her clicking spoons in the clever Spoon Dance. There was more smart tapping by Billy Pat Torras and Carol Graham in their solo numbers. Betty Jean De Amaral did a spectacular bit of baton twirling in El Capitan. Jill Murry danced a spirited Kamarinskaja. The Spanish Dances of Alma Llorente and

HE NOURISHES HIS FAITH

*He said, "this is the ultimate and end
Of killing, the last master massacre;
The outer world, slave, ridden to our spur,
Will bear our burdens, stoop and serve and tend.*

*"I am the vortex of the holocaust,
Purging the earth, I am a hurricane
Of wrath, that no man ever rise again
With arms to claim the rights that he has lost."*

*So Genghis Khan spoke, so Attila, so
Grim Tamerlane, all with finality,
That man would never loosen slavery,
Never have face again as man or foe.*

*But man is greater than the conqueror,
And more than beast he rises when he falls,
He nourishes his faith while nursing galls,
Always his stature lengthens more and more.*
—ALEX R. SCHMIDT.

SIXTEEN GATHERS HIS GIFT

*Lightly she steps from the cool green lawn
And trips down the garden path
At dawn.
Starched like the tulips,
Her pink percale
Brushes lace from a silver web on the trail;*

*She rings the bells in the tall blue spires
Of delphinium,
As she runs through the poppy fires
Cupping her hands
For the sparkling notes
That pour from mocking bird throats;*

*The star on the mountain fades,
Golden cascades
Fall from the sky;
Reaching into the shining flood
She gathers the dawn for him
With a bright gold bud!*

—MONICA TYLER BROWN.

MONTEZUMA

*Ripened cherries polka-dot the green;
Blue jays, red-breasts jabber in their flight.
The split-leaf silver birch raises white
Arms, tinsel-hung—a Magdalene
Offering to the heaven a prayer serene.
The copper beech, bronze in bright sunlight,
Gun-metalled by the near approaching night,
Stands alone in color quarantine.*

*Surrounding hills, rimmed with fir and pine Steepling the sky, symbolize Montezuma's adage, Indian born—
"Aim your arrow at the stars." Enshrine
This law within your hearts! Life's prize
Waits atop your own will's Matterhorn!*

REVIEWS

Ladisla Narvaez were gay and charming.

But, of course, it was the stunning Army and Navy finale that brought down the house. The entire troupe appeared on the stage. It made an appropriately colorful flourish to end this splendid show.

Responsible for the precision tap dancing in the Army number were, Mimi Rookledge, Cherry Rookledge, Rose Marie Krupocki, Peggy McInnis, Rica Llorente, Bobby Sapsis, Marian Perkins, Connie McKibben, Nancy Krupocki and Ilene Casvin, and in the Navy group: June Delight 2nd, Billy Pat Torras, Ladisla Narvaez, Patsy Canoles, Carol Graham, Patsy Rosenblum, Nancy Tyrrell, Mary Masuen, Glenda Dayton, and Betty Jean De Amaral.

A special round of applause, too, should go to Muriel Doolittle and Harriet Walker, who did such a fine job at the piano, and to Bill France for his effective lighting, and a very special bouquet to Carol Edwards as Art Director.

"Between the Crosses, Row on Row"

As Poppy Day has been set for May 27 in Carmel, according to Mrs. W. H. Landers, president of the local unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, we believe it is appropriate to print here at this time the story of the flower which, because of its significance, has come to occupy a large spot in the hearts of all of us.

The idea of the poppy as a memorial flower for the World War dead sprang up as naturally as the little wild flower itself grows in the fields of France and Flanders. The flower was the one touch of beauty which survived amid the hideous destruction of war. Along the edge of the trenches beneath the tangled barbed wire, about the ragged shell holes and over the fresh graves it raised its brave red blossom. It seemed to be the one immortal thing in that region where death reigned. The soldiers of all nations came to look upon it as the living symbol of the sacrifices of their dead comrades.

It was a poet who first gave expression to the idea. Soon himself to lie beneath the poppies, he wrote:

*"In Flanders' fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row—"*

Even before the men had returned from the war, the perfect little poem of Colonel John McCrae had winged its way around the world carrying the picture of the poppies. Returning soldiers brought the vision of the poppy fields back with them, engraved indelibly in their hearts with the memories of the comrades they had left on the battle-front. Spontaneously the poppy took on a sacred significance. It became the flower of remembrance for the men who had poured out their life's blood around the roots of the little plant.

Memories of the war dead always bring thoughts of those who did not die but came back doomed to years of hardship and suffering, sometimes worse than death. In the poppy was found a way to link the honoring of the dead with service for the living victims of the war. Soon after the war patriotic organizations in different countries began to conduct sales of poppies made by disabled veterans, to raise funds for relief work among suffering ex-service men and their families. A double significance became attached to the poppy. Wearing the little flower came to mean honoring the dead and helping the living.

The poppy also became the memorial flower of the British Legion. Other American veterans' organizations followed The American Legion and Auxiliary in adopting it as their official flower of remembrance. Soon many millions of the little red flowers were being worn each year

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

King Koko

Operettas are dangerous stuff to fool around with and it was not without forboding that the high school attended the 7th and 8th grade production of "King Koko." We were all pleasantly surprised. This was definitely not up to the usual standard of junior high school operettas. (thank goodness) This was something special and everyone carried their difficult acting and singing parts very well. Wynne Hutchings was a very convincing cannibal king and his daughter Nancy Anderson did a nice job singing. She didn't slip up once, and her voice was very clear and lovely. Duval Roberts was very good as the bespectacled governess, who, wrecked on the cannibal isle, changed from a pretty but prim pedagogue into a blonde saronged siren. The players were as follows: Leads, Bob Barry, Duval Roberts, Nancy Anderson, Donald Kennington, George Little, Wynne Hutchings, Rita Hazeltine, Elaine Drew, Roland Van Den Burg; 8th grade chorus: Edith Barbie, Sunny Cook, Betty Dougherty, Beverly Dowgiallo, Yvonne Goodrich, Rita Hazeltine, Rose Krupocki, Shiela Whitaker, Margaret Smith, Patricia Lyon, Betty Plackston, Betty Goulart, Shirley Petty, Roberta Roberts, Sherlie Sousa, Wanda Warren, Dick Cox, Peggy Riker, Nancy Wise, and Jackie Work. 7th grade chorus, Cynthia Carr, Jeanette Reel, Tom Hanley, Earl Wight, Tom McCrea, Dan Holmes, Harry Watson, Charles Olmstead, Patricia Timbers, Ann Wales, Jacque Briggs, Jennifer Lloyd, Mary Louise Loudmel, Betty Cochrane, Floyd Adams, Constance Melchior, Ruth Van Neil, and Sheila O'Brien. —Ann Pierce.

The C.C.A.L. meet last Saturday at Salinas was one of the biggest track meets of the track season, next to the N.W.C.S. meet which takes place this Saturday at Berkeley with all the High Schools on the coast represented.

There were eight schools participating: Monterey, Pacific Grove, Salinas, Carmel, King City, Santa Cruz, Hollister and Gonzales.

Although Carmel was only represented by five men, three of our boys chalked up a total of nine points for our school. They were John McPike, five points for being first in the shot, Emile Passailaigue, third in the shot, two points and Roy Parsons third in the discuss, two points. This gave Carmel a sixth place out of a possible eighth in the meet, which in anyone's opinion is pretty good for three men, considering the odds. Coach Rudd has chosen two of his men who placed, Passailaigue and Parsons, to go up to Berkeley with him this Saturday to represent the Carmel Padre Team. John McPike will be unable to go because he has not been a student at Carmel High for the requisite length of time. The other two boys who entered in the C.C.A.L. meet were Bruce King 220 yard dash and Earl Walls in the 220 yard high hurdles. —Emile Passailaigue.

Don Blanding at Assembly

The dreamer made the world, not the practical man. This was the main theme of Don Blanding who was the main attraction of the Carmel High School student body's assembly last Friday. As everyone knows, Don Blanding lives in Carmel and is very well known and loved. To illustrate his theme, he read a few poems from his newest book, Pilot Bails Out. He picked the poems that he thought would appeal to the high school students, which they did. The students now realize that poetry can also appeal to the practical man. After the assembly the students were so enthusiastic that they persuaded him to attend their English class. He graciously acceded to their request and talked on Fodore of Hawaii.

—Mary Jane Reel.

Junior Senior Prom

The lights are low, the music sweet, the colors soft, and the setting perfect for the event of the year, the Junior-Senior prom.

These effects were due to the valiant efforts of the Junior class. Florita Botts in charge of the decorations, changed the whole appearance of the cafeteria from a place where we eat lunch to an Hawaiian patio. The flowers donated and arranged by some of the Junior girls lent a fragrance to the air and color to the tables around the floor.

Dick Dwain and his orchestra kept the crowd. He managed to play all evening without repeating any tunes, which is quite a feat for a Carmel High Dance.

The chaperones at the prom were Mrs. Williamson, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Brey, Mr. and Mrs. Getsinger and Mr. Marrs. —Diana Daniels.

Senior Day

Next Wednesday, May 24, will mark the third consecutive "Senior Day" since our high school was established. On that day, the seniors fill in for the teachers and carry out the day's work. The tradition has proved itself worthwhile to the graduating class, and the rest of the school.

If you were to ask a high school student some of the strange things he would like to do before graduating, one of them would be the chance to take a teacher's place for a day. —Stanley Ewig.

Play Day

"They're swell and we really had fun!" Everyone seemed to feel the same way about the Monterey girls at the Play Day at the Monterey High School last Saturday. There were about eighty girls at the meet, twelve of whom were Carmel girls. While two games of baseball were being played, about twenty girls were playing tennis. Carmel and Monterey girls did not play against each other but played together. After the baseball and tennis games were over, those who wanted to went swimming, and the rest watched. When the swimmers were about worn out they emerged from the water and took showers before sitting out on the lawn to eat lunch and drink free cokes. It was a wonderful morning, leaving a good impression of Monterey girls in our minds. —Ann Hodgson.

Oliver Wins Again

Earlier this year Oliver Bassett, member of the Junior class at C.H.S., covered himself and us with honor when he won a certificate of merit, in the Regional Exhibit of Scholastic Awards held in Oakland, California.

Now Oliver is again the recipient of congratulations, and again we are basking in reflected glory.

He has just been notified that he has won a second certificate of merit in the National Exhibit of (Continued on page 12)

Farewell Dinner Party

Mr. Frank Heffelfinger of St. Paul, Minnesota, who has for many years made it his custom to spend the spring at Pebble Beach, was host on Wednesday evening at a farewell dinner party given at Cypress Point Club for a large group of his local friends. Mr. Heffelfinger will leave for St. Paul over the coming week end.

Back to Bay Region

Mrs. Adolph Morbio of Berkeley and Mrs. O. Girard of San Francisco, who were in Carmel over the past week end to attend the funeral rites for Commander M. J. Peterson, motored back to the Bay Region on Sunday with Commander Paul Flanders when he returned to his Treasure Island base.

Mrs. Parker Here

Mrs. "Happy" Parker, who has been spending the past months at Palm Springs, is once more at home on Scenic Drive, where she plans to remain for the summer.

in all parts of the English-speaking world, to honor the World War dead and to aid the war's living victims.

The nation-wide sale of the memorial poppies was begun by the Legion and Auxiliary in 1921. At first silk poppies made in France by French widows and orphans were used. In 1922 the first poppies made by American veterans were produced in the hospitals of Minnesota, and this work has steadily expanded until poppies are being made in more than fifty hospitals and disabled veterans' workrooms in forty different states.

The crepe paper poppy was selected as the official poppy of The American Legion and Auxiliary because it provided the maximum of work for the disabled men, with the minimum expenditure for materials. The fabric poppy was considered, but it was not selected because making this poppy would not provide sufficient employment for the disabled veterans.

By 1924 it was seen that the poppy program lent itself more naturally to the work of women than of men, and The American Legion gave the Auxiliary complete charge of the national program. This was a heavy responsibility. Wearing the flower was the nation's annual tribute to the World War dead. From the distribution of the flower came a large proportion of the welfare and relief funds of both organizations. Seldom has such a gigantic enterprise been placed solely in the hands of women.

How well the Auxiliary measured up to the responsibility placed on its shoulders is shown by the development of the poppy program. Each year approximately 13,000,000 Americans wear Legion and Auxiliary poppies in tribute to the war dead, contributing for the flowers over a million dollars for the welfare of the present as well as the last war's living victims.

Eugene Watson Weds

In a quiet ceremony, witnessed only by members of the family and performed by Dr. J. E. Crowther in the Church of the Wayfarer at five o'clock on Monday afternoon, Mrs. Grace A. Plank became the wife of Mr. Eugene A. H. Watson, long prominent in both the civic and cultural life of Carmel.

The new Mrs. Watson has many friends here, where she made her home nine years ago, and where her children attended Sunset school. At one time she was president of the Carmel Parent-Teacher association. Her son, John Plank, is now serving in a technical air command in Italy, while a second son, Tim, is in army training in Georgia. A third, Stehen Plank, is a student at the University of Chicago. Her daughter, Mrs. Jeremy Woolliover, makes her home in Monterey during the service of her husband in the U. S. Army Medical Corps.

Present for Monday's ceremony uniting the two families were Mrs. Woolliover and her two small children, the groom's two daughters, Suzanne and Nancy Lee Watson, his son, Harry Watson, and Celeste, for many years a loved and valued member of the Watson household in their home at Eighth and Monte Verde.

Serra Club Final Meet

The final meeting for the school year of the Junipero Serra Mothers' Club was held on Thursday afternoon, May 11, at Crespi Hall, at which time the new officers for the coming year were installed, succeeding the following outgoing officers: president, Mrs. R. Osborne; vice-president, Mrs. R. B. Stoney; treasurer, Mrs. R. Neumann and secretary, Mrs. B. Boyce. The new president is Mrs. R. B. Stoney; vice-president, Mrs. Gerald Galloway; treasurer, Mrs. Waldo Hicks; secretary, Mrs. A. Conners.

Guest speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. G. W. Stuart, who gave a talk on child psychology in the jungle. A special invitation had been extended to the San Carlos Mothers' Club of Monterey and those who attended were the mesdames T. Doherty, L. Cerney, J. Dougherty, R. Rudolph, H. Raine, A. Fowler, S. Cerrito, V. Alioto, R. Schutz, Gilmore and O'Neill. The guests from Carmel were the Rev. Father Michael O'Connell, Father O'Farrell and the Mesdames F. Clark, A. Bichl, Anthony Janda, G. Baxter, J. A. McNerney, Redmond F. Kernan, McGarraugh, Carpenter, Willoughby, Alexander, McCormack, Thomas McKenna, J. Fratessa, E. W. L. Franklin and G. W. Kelley. At the conclusion of the meeting tea was served and a door prize consisting of a copy of Mrs. Stuart's book, Piang, was presented to Mrs. J. A. McNerney.

Helen Dean Goes East

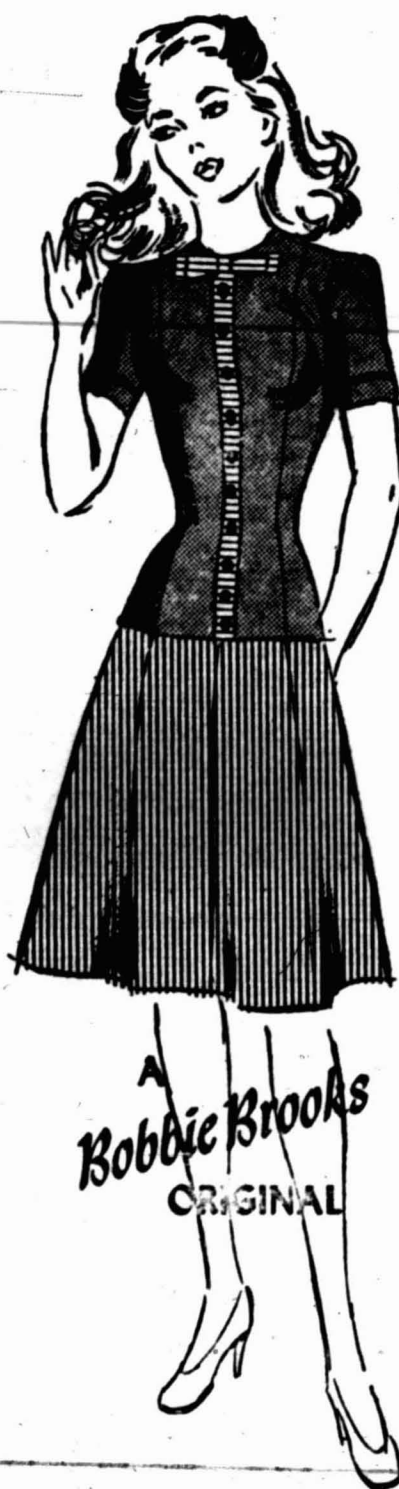

Mrs. Helen Dean will depart on a trip to New York and other eastern points next week, combining a holiday with some buying for her Cinderella shop. While in the east, she expects to visit with friends in Washington, D. C.

Peggy Rees in India

Word comes this week from National Red Cross headquarters that Miss Margaret Rees, formerly assistant director of the Carmel USO, has arrived in India to fill the post of assistant Red Cross program director for the Armed Forces stationed there. Prior to assuming her position with the USO here, Miss Rees, the daughter of Mrs. Grace M. Rees of Carmel, was athletic director for the Woman's Athletic Club in Los Angeles and for ten years previous to that a concert dancer with the Myra Kinch modern dance group in Los Angeles.

Capt. Hagemeyer at Ft. Sill

Captain David Hagemeyer of the Field Artillery, accompanied by Mrs. Hagemeyer and their small daughter, Anne, has arrived by motor at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, where he will be stationed for some time.

You'll be justly proud of the figure you cut in this Bobbie Brooks original two-piecer. This smart, new cotton has a linen jacket that buttons right up to the perky bow under your chin, and long tucks to slim your waist. The charming, striped cotton skirt will swing gracefully with each step. Comes in luscious contrasting shades of spring!

HITLER'S GENERALS

By W. E. Hart

Stories, based on inside information of the unscrupulous, calculating, but able men who command the German Forces.

The author (whose real name is not Hart) is a former German Cavalry officer who broke with Hitler, joined the British Army as a volunteer, and who is now serving as a military correspondent for several big English newspapers. 2.75

WITH MY HEART IN MY MOUTH

By Duncan Norton-Taylor

The author was sent by Time Magazine to report on the war in the Pacific. This is the story of what he saw with the trained eyes of a reporter, but being no hardened war correspondent, frequently with his heart in his mouth. 2.50

TELL THE FOLKS BACK HOME

By U. S. Senator James M. Mead

Senator Mead and four other senators were sent by the President on a 45,000 mile tour of every American base and fighting front. This is the only book that tells you how our boys are living and fighting on all fronts. 3.00

FROSSIA

By E. M. Almedingen

A novel of Russia told by a woman born and reared in Russia who writes in English. Russia is neither Tzarist nor communist to the author—just a country, the country to love and live for. It is the story of the new world evolving in Russia. 2.50

EUROPE'S CHILDREN

1939 to 1943

By Therese Bonney

The author prefaces her book with this paragraph. "With my camera I have made this record in France, Spain, England, Sweden and Finland. This is incidental. They might have been taken in a score of other countries today. I have written this story with my lens. This is the truth for which I vouch." 3.00

Cypress Point Honeymoon

The wedding of Mrs. Nancy Hooper, daughter of Mr. S. F. B. Morse, and Major Kenneth Stuart Walker, member of a prominent New York family, was an important social event of the afternoon of Saturday, May 13, in Burlingame. The young couple are now spending a brief honeymoon at Cypress Point Club.

Here from Los Banos

Police Judge Alfred Lewis and Mrs. Lewis of Los Banos paid a short visit to Carmel early in the week.

Dorwart With Oil Co.

George M. Dorwart who lived in Carmel from 1918 to 1933, now a resident of Pasadena, recently became associated with the Union Oil Company at Compton as a petroleum Engineer. He attended Sunset and Monterey high and latter, California Institute of Technology.

Anna Katz to N. Y.

Anna Katz left on Sunday for New York where she will spend the coming weeks in making purchases for her Ocean Avenue dress shop.

"Red" Warrington Home

Home from the sea this week was 19-year-old Machinist's Mate (3rd cl.) Harry Warrington, U.S.N., who used to spend most of his spare time outside of Sunset school and Carmel high in the lighting booths of the various Carmel dramatic productions. He had only a brief leave this time in which to visit with his many local friends, his first since a year ago last February, and in the interval he has seen front line action in all the Pacific battle zones. He has served since his enlistment on March 13, 1942 on three ships in all, the tanker Guadalupe, the San Francisco, and for the past two months on his present vessel, advancing to the rank he now holds from that of fireman. His mother, Mrs. Natalie Warrington, formerly of Carmel, now makes her home in Alameda, where his brother, Junior Warrington, is working as a radio foreman at the naval air base. Another brother, Lt. (j.g.) Paul Warrington, U.S.N., is on active sea duty. Machinist's Mate Warrington made it very emphatic that once the war is won, his home will again be Carmel.

Word From Great Barrington

A jovial reminder came this week from the Bob Erickson family, who made many Carmel friends during the years they maintained a grocery store on Dolores street. Now Mr. and Mrs. Erickson and their two daughters, Henrietta and Irene, are living on a farm in Great Barrington, Massachusetts. Bob Erickson explains their present occupation: "First we ate it; then we sold it; now we grow it."

Sgt. Strasberger in England

Sergeant Arthur Strasberger, Jr., is now assigned to clerical duties at a large depot of the Air Service Command "somewhere in England." Sgt. Strasberger, whose parents live in Carmel at Ocean View and Stewart Way, enlisted in the Air Force while a student at Stanford University, October 10, 1942. During his service in the states, he was stationed at Salinas and at Santa Maria. He arrived in the European Theatre of Operations last year.

Louis Conlan in Town

Service Pilot Louis Conlan of the 6th Tow Squadron, U. S. Army Air Force, left on Sunday to return to his base at El Paso after dividing his leave between his friends in Carmel and a visit in San Francisco with his father and his brother, Captain Fran Conlan, now on leave from his duties in Alaska with the Army Medical Corps.

Luncheon for Cast

Mr. Noel Sullivan entertained at luncheon on Sunday at Hollow Hills Farm in honor of the cast and production staff of Arsenic and Old Lace, the piece de resistance, a gorgeous cake, signaling also that the occasion marked a birthday for Lee Crowe, for whom the cake bore greetings and a line from his expertly acted role in Arsenic—"I made the finale."

Among the twenty-five or more guests who enjoyed Mr. Sullivan's hospitality and the piano virtuosity of Roger Aubert were also Mrs. K. M. Dennis, mother of John Dennis, alias Dr. Einstein, and Mrs. Mary Ellen Concannon of Oakland, house guest and old friend from former days in Paris of Charlotte Kett, who added another star to her local dramatic record as Miss Abby Brewster. Contributing no small part to the success of Sunday's party were those gracious assistants at Hollow Hills Farm, Mrs. Leonie Morris and Mrs. Eula Pharr.

Return to San Francisco

Captain H. M. Gleason, U.S.N. Retired, and Mrs. Gleason, who have occupied their home at Carmelo and Tenth streets during the past week while Captain Gleason assisted at the Naval services for his old friend, Commander M. J. Peterson, returned on Tuesday to their San Francisco home.

S/Sgt. John Short on Leave

Staff Sergeant John Short, U. S. Army walked in unannounced on Tuesday to surprise his mother, Mrs. Marie Short, his sister Kraig and brother Erik in their Mission street home. S/Sgt. Short, who has been stationed at Ft. McPherson, Georgia, plans to spend a week's leave in Carmel before reporting to Camp Beal, where he has just been assigned.

New Pine Inn Manager

Mr. E. D. King has arrived from Los Angeles, where he was in charge of the Jonathan Club, to assume the management of Pine Inn. His hotel experience has been a varied one, including the management of the New York and Santa Barbara Biltmores, St. Catherine Hotel in Catalina and a hotel in Bermuda.

For Bride-Elect

Four faculty members of the elementary department of Sunset school: Mrs. Katherine French, Mrs. Anna Kohner, Miss Eletteth McQuilkin and Miss Stella Schnabel, were co-hostesses on Monday evening at a shower and dinner party given in Mrs. French's Monterey Country club home to honor their colleague, Miss Estelle Billington, whose marriage to Sergeant James Fontana will take place on June 11. Other guests for the occasion were the Mesdames Helen Cowan Wood, Edna Lockwood, Estelle Cooper, Ann Uzzell, Clarisse Duygou, Bernita Ninneman and J. W. Getsinger, and the Misses Bernice Riley, Jean Staffebach, Lucile Burtis and Florence Morrow.

Col. Black on 20-Day Leave

Mrs. Margaret Black of Mayfair House was in San Francisco last Sunday to meet the plane bearing her husband, Col. P. J. Black of the General Staff Corps of the U. S. Army home on a 20-day leave from Brazil, where he has been stationed for the past year, since his last visit to Carmel. Col. Black has been on overseas duty for two years. He and Mrs. Black returned to Carmel on Tuesday night.

Mother's Day Arrival

A baby daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ferreira of Point Lobos on May 14, Mother's Day, at the Peninsula Community Hospital. She has been named Carol Ann.

Telfer in New Play

Word comes from Boston this week that will prove of interest to the many Carmel friends of Ronald Telfer, actively identified with local drama for many years. Mr. Telfer is a member of the cast of Career Angel, which had its pre-Broadway premiere on the evening of Friday, May 12, at the Wilbur Theatre in Boston.

S. F. Holiday

Mrs. Canoles (June Delight) accompanied her husband, Chief Pharmacist's Mate J. A. Canoles, U.S.N., to San Francisco on Thursday to spend the last few days of his leave with him there.

Gallery Tea

A tea and reception will be held next Sunday afternoon from 4 to 6 in the Carmel Art Gallery, in honor of the pupils of Mrs. Patricia Cunningham whose work is now on exhibit there. Among the hostesses will be Mrs. Cunningham, Mrs. Rama Stearns, Mrs. Marjorie Doolittle and Mrs. Florence True.

Here for Recital

Mrs. Florence Foster, her daughter Naomi Rowe, and the latter's school friend, Betty O'Connor, came down from San Francisco last Friday to spend the week end with Mrs. Foster's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank De Amaral, at their home in Carmel Highlands and to attend Saturday night's dance recital where young Frankie De Amaral was a solo performer.

Also from San Francisco came Mrs. Bernard Watson and her 3-year-old daughter Sharon to enjoy the performance of Patricia Doolittle and be the house guest of Mrs. Watson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace E. Doolittle.

Especially to see the numbers performed by Billy Pat Torras, the gifted little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Torras, the latter's sister, Mrs. Eugene Utter and her friend, Mrs. Henry King, came all the way from Sacramento. Mrs. King returned on Monday, while Mrs. Utter plans to remain for another week as her sister's house guest.

OFFICE OF THE TAX COLLECTOR OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA, CALIFORNIA.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to all delinquent tax payers and property owners mentioned, set forth and described in the foregoing list on the assessment roll of 1944, for the fiscal year 1944, in and for the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, County of Monterey, State of California, a Municipal Corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the State of California, that unless the taxes delinquent, also delinquent charges for abating fire hazards, together with the costs and percentages due, as in the above delinquent list set forth, are paid prior to Monday, the 12th day of June, A. D. 1944, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, the real property on which said taxes and charges are a lien, will be sold to the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, by operation of law and by declaration, for the payment of such taxes and fire hazard abatement charges, together with percentages and costs. The sale will take place at the office of the Tax Collector, in the City Hall on Dolores Street, between Ocean Avenue and Seventh Avenue, City of Carmel-by-the-Sea.

EXCEPTION: Any property appearing in the foregoing delinquent tax list, which has been previously sold to the City for taxes, and redemption from such sale has not been made, will not again be sold to the City until such property has been redeemed from the previous sale.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand as Tax Collector, this 9th day of May, A. D. 1944.

Thomas J. Hefling,
Tax Collector, for the City of Carmel-
by-the-Sea.

Date of Publication: May 19, 1944.

Red Cross Notes

BY HELEN A. FIELD

Surgical Dressings
We need workers in the Surgical Dressings room at Carmel Chapter of Red Cross.

To meet the requirements of the War Department for supplying surgical dressings for our injured servicemen is the task and the privilege of the workers in the Surgical Dressings units of American Red Cross. As a result of the increasing action of our Armed Forces in all theatres of war larger quotas are coming. Every loyal woman who can possibly do so should come to the Red Cross building on Dolores street between 7th and 8th to take her part in this necessary work.

To those who have given so faithfully of their time and energy we say, stay on the job particularly during the next six months in spite of the coming of summer with its vacation call. We need you.

To those women who have come to Carmel recently for short or long stays we say, come to the Surgical Dressings workroom at Red Cross Headquarters. From ten to four o'clock, Mondays through Fridays there is important work for you to do there.

As our forces move forward on the Continent of Europe, as we approach Japan, the need will be great indeed. The women of America can and will meet it. Let us, here in Carmel, do our part as always.

EATON HAS SILVER BAR

Lewis E. Eaton of Carmel and Fresno was promoted last week to the rank of First Lieutenant at the school for Special and Morale Services, Lexington, Va., where he is stationed as Assistant Engineer. Lt. Eaton, a graduate of Stanford University, joined the army in July, 1942, and was stationed in San Francisco as a technician 4th grade in the Signal Corps until March, 1943. He then went to Officer Candidate school and was commissioned a Second Lieutenant on June 9, 1943. He studied next at the school for Special and Morale Services and upon completion of his course there, was sent as Platoon Leader in the 15th Special Service company to the desert training center in Arizona. In October, 1943, he was assigned to the school as Assistant Engineer.

Scholastic Awards.

Over 600 students chosen from approximately 75,000 contestants are sharing this year's awards. Oliver is one of these select 600, and we are very proud of him.

Scholastic Awards has been developed by Scholastic Magazine throughout the past twenty years, during which time, the high school students of the Nation have amply demonstrated that there is an amazing amount of strong creative ability in this country.

Visiting Day for Seventh Grade

The Seventh grade from Sunset School paid us a visit last Tuesday afternoon. Escorted by Mr. Gettlinger and some of the Eighth grade girls, the newest aspirants to membership in the exclusive society, to be found within our sacrosanct portals toured our plant from end to end in an endeavor to find out just what makes us tick. Did they envy us, we wonder? Or did we perhaps envy them just a bit? They are poised expectantly before the threshold of a new experience. New experiences are always interesting, even if painful, and the soon-to-be Eighth graders are due for a very exciting experience when they commence the upward climb every day. The aforesaid climb partaking of both mental and physical effort.

Seriously though, we were no end pleased with the pleasant faces and the nice manners of the members of this class, and we are sure they will be a distinct asset as a group to our society. We look forward to becoming well acquainted with them when next September rolls around.

PATTY TREVVETT HERE

Mrs. David K. Trevvett of San Francisco, the former Miss Patty Johnson, arrived last Tuesday, accompanied by her two children, Sidney, aged five, and three-year-old Susie, for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnson of Dolores and Eleventh street. Her sister, Private Gail Johnson of the WAC's, is now stationed at Westover Field, Massachusetts, where she is taking a course in physiotherapy.

Cunningham's Students' Exhibit at Art Gallery

the little Middle Gallery.

As one walks through the front door of the Carmel Art Gallery, into the little Middle Gallery, the eye begins its glorious feast of color, the most outstanding and thrilling characteristic of this Exhibit, and one of its best exponents is Rama Stearns. The portraits on the right wall strike forcibly with their vibrancy of color. The storybook effect of the golden-haired siren in the mermaid-green dress, by Marjorie Doolittle, the girl in the shocking-pink blouse and lime yellow skirt, the vivid brunettes in scarlet and sapphire, and turbaned in flame, by Rama Stearns, the group of four refreshing watercolors, of horses and landscapes, by Florence True, are ready aperitifs for the banquet in the George F. Beardsley Memorial Gallery.

Florence True paints with a dignity of feeling, the true patrician in her fine portrait of the lady in grey.

Both Rama Stearns and Marjorie Doolittle have exhibited their interpretations of the same subject, "Carmel Mission," strongly reminiscent of the days of early California. The white clouds, the deep blue sea, characteristic architecture, and in the Doolittle, the group of Spanish dons on horseback, and in the Stearns, the cluster of quiet nuns, exude a peaceful, flowing charm.

"Lily White," a stunning Negro in a plum-colored dress, against a fuchsia background, a shrieking chartreuse plant beside her, is characteristic of the understanding mastery Rama Stearns has over color.

"Succulents," by Marjorie Doolittle, won the first prize in the modern group, in the "Artists for Victory" contest last year. Many will linger long before it, caught up in the almost mystic spell of its colors, cool undersea blues, aquas, turquoise, and pale yellow. It seems like a bouquet of fairy-tale sea blossoms, seen as in a dream; one puts one's hand out to touch them, they are not there.

Marjorie Doolittle and Florence True both have contrasting but equally interesting treatments of the same subject, portraits of a model named, "Mary," a lithe brunette in a raspberry sweater and a teal blue skirt, who sits knitting, while beside her, on a table is a pile of gaily colored balls of wool. Florence True's is modernistic and is appropriately titled, "A Study in Space Relationships."

"Spring Morning" and "Road to the Mission," both by Marjorie Doolittle, are fine landscapes, filled with, in the first, golden light on warm, green fructifying hills, trees in shimmering bloom in the valleys, but, in the second, more of a cool mysterious, feminine Nature, as though the road between the beckoning trees invites one with an as-yet unfulfilled promise. Spring holds—what?

The Still Life group includes the one by Rama Stearns that is classical in its feeling, with its center the sculptured head of a Greek God. Florence True's two modernistic canvasses entitled "Still Life" and Marjorie Doolittle's, on the same subject, are extremely modernistic. Fascinating moments can be spent observing the details in True's oils, of the purple headlines in the daily papers, the overturned magenta aspirin bottle, the half-finished glass of heady, purple wine beside the two billous yellow lemons, the eggbeater and mixing bowl, apples and paring knife, glorified by a utilitarian dustpan. All these haloed by Oil, as are the green, cockeyed fish and purple candle, root of tree, and bottle of chianti in Marjorie Doolittle's.

As in Florence True's realistic scene of the Monterey wharf, one can almost smell the fish and salty tang and seaweed, so in Marjorie Doolittle's "Beach," with the white strip of sand at the blue river's gaping mouth, in the shadow of the green mountains, one can practically feel the fatal pull of the treacherous undertow as the waves swoop up the narrow beach. Again, a fete of stunning color comes in Rama Stearns' portrait of another of her favorite exotic dark beauties, this time garbed in apple green and sun yellow, against a turquoise matrix backdrop. Startlingly bright henna, green and gold jump out at you from Marjorie Doolittle's "Sewing Machine Girl."

The undeniable physical beauty and esthetic charm of Carmel are portrayed by this group of artists in their landscapes over and over again. There is Marjorie Doolittle's "Valley Ranch," every detail good, from the white houses, barns and fences, to the horses, and the children and chickens. Florence True's "Fish Ranch," with the loamy tilled fields and winding, over-the-hill road, and Rama Stearns' landscape with its feathery greens and misty, dawn-like feeling, are both fine.

Many will pause long, and come back to look again, at Betty Reynolds' "Point Lobos," which is compact, clear and firm. Its cerulean blues are truly heavenly and the composition is excellent. It is one of the best.

W. C. Ufford

W. C. Ufford, the father of Mrs. P. J. Black of Carmel, died on Friday, May 12, in his home in Beverly Hills, after an illness resulting from an injury sustained several years ago.

Mr. Ufford, a native of Vermont, was a pioneer lumber man long prominent in Spokane. Since his retirement 15 years ago, he made his home in southern California. In addition to his daughter, a son, Celian Ufford, of Beverly Hills, formerly a professor of science and philosophy at Harvard University, also survives.

Residents Asked To Furnish Rooms For Visiting Soldiers

Jim Cooke, member of the board of directors for the Carmel USO, has asked the Pine Cone Cymbal to print the following appeal for week end housing for visiting service men:

"The Carmel USO has been having many requests Saturday nights by boys who have heard about Carmel and her beauty and are arriving in large numbers from the hot valley training areas. The Army authorities can never stop this flow of men and something must be done to house them over the week end.

"Last Saturday night 50 men asked K. Helen McKinstry, the Director of the Carmel USO, for rooms, and by spending the whole evening phoning she was able to place 44, 11 of them going into one house on the Carmel Point. Miss McKinstry cannot devote that much time on a Saturday night with 500 men as guests at the Carmel USO, and so the AWVS in the Pine Inn is going to help this situation by sending one of its volunteer workers in uniform up to the Carmel USO to meet these service people and find rooms for them. But they are going to need your help.

"Please phone Carmel 1051 and list the rooms with the AWVS that you would like to rent over the week end. Please be ready to tell the price and the number you can accommodate, and a good description of the location, because as summer comes and the training areas get hotter, this situation will become more acute.

"Here is a wonderful chance to do something toward the war effort, and your help will be appreciated."

Free Course And Job Waiting For Drafting Students

Stanford University's War training program offers two new 12-weeks tuition free courses in drafting beginning May 29, on the Stanford Campus.

Aircraft Drafting: For this course only, Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corporation will give to Road and Seventh.

For this, the first of a contemplated series of teas which in the future will gather together wives representative of all the branches of the Army service, the decorations carried out the atmosphere of pleasant informality inspired by the hostess and consisted of pelargoniums and fuchias gathered from the Stilwell garden. Tea was poured by assistants drafted from the arriving guests.

those students approved for employment in the San Diego plant, payment averaging $118 per month while in school at Stanford. Representatives of Consolidated will be on the Stanford Campus May 26 and 27 to interview applicants. A postcard to War Training Office, Room 267, Engineering Bldg. Stanford University, will bring information and enrollment forms.

Engineering Drafting: This prepares for work in various industrial and engineering drafting office. No subsidy is offered for this course. Those who cannot leave this area should choose this course.

A poster describing this training for war work may be found in the Pine Cone Cymbal office, the Post Office, Public Library and High School. Ask for it.
